History of Almaluu Yurt Camp

The Issyk-Kul region and South Shore is famous for its fruit, including uniquely tart apples and peaches. The Almaluu Yurt Camp served as a Soviet collective farm and apple orchard during Soviet years.

In 2014, owner Zhyldyz Asanakunova acquired the property with the intent to open a hospitality business oriented toward providing accommodations and cultural experiences to tourists. Zhyldyz believes the camp and tour offerings are ideal for showcasing, as well as preserving, Kyrgyz culture and nomadic experiences reflective of the region and her people.

Today tourists visit the camp seeking to balance harmony of the mind, soul, and body and to remove themselves from the outside influences of daily life. Almaluu expands new horizons by introducing authentic and natural experiences in a luxurious nomadic setting.

Come enjoy and experience the camp, where you will find English, German, Russian and Kyrgyz languages spoken, all set within incredible Kyrgyz hospitality!
